Legends and Young'uns

2009 CONFERENCE

Phenomenal Women Living Longer with the Challenge of HIV

ABOUT THIS CONFERENCE:

This annual conference was inspired by Oprah Winfrey's "Legends Ball" which aired on television in 2006. In this program, she honored and celebrated the lives of dynamic, phenomenal women in the music, acting and socioeconomic world. Oprah named these great women as "Legends." Other women that were invited to join in this auspicious occasion were the "Young'uns," women who are renown in the music world as well, but were younger in careers and in age.

It is in this vein that we continue to recognize and honor those women who are surviving and living well with the challenge of HIV/AIDS. In collaboration with Morgan State University School of Community Health and Policy, the Johns Hopkins University AIDS Education Training Center (AETC) and Older Women Embracing Life (OWEL) will host this fourth annual "Legends and Young'uns: Phenomenal Women Living Longer with the Challenge of HIV/AIDS" Conference. The full day meeting will again address the unique issues of women of all ages, both perinatally infected and newly diagnosed, the "Young'uns," as well as those living well in their senior years, the "Legends." Current information pertaining to the treatment and management of HIV/AIDS in women, to include prevention, education, testing, life skills and resource information will be provided for the targeted audience through presentations and workshops by experts in the field.

TARGETED AUDIENCE:

Female consumers, nurses, social workers, outreach workers, counselors and case managers who are involved in the care of HIV positive women.
